

Wedding Gift Wording Guide

Wedding vendors are often asked how couples should mention gifts or wishing wells in their invitations. Many couples want to mention gifts politely without creating pressure for guests. Below are some simple wording examples couples often use.

1. Your presence at our wedding is the greatest gift of all. If you would like to honour us with a gift, we have created a registry to help us celebrate this next chapter together.
2. We are lucky enough to already have most of what we need, so if you would like to give a gift, a contribution to our registry would mean so much to us.
3. Having you celebrate with us is the most important thing to us. For those who have asked, we have created a registry for contributions towards our future together.
4. Your love, laughter, and company on our wedding day are the only gifts we truly need. However, if you would like to bless us with a gift, we have a registry to help us build our next adventure.
5. As we begin married life together, your presence is present enough. If you wish to give a gift, we would be so grateful for a contribution through our registry.
6. We are so excited to celebrate with you. For friends and family who have asked about gifts, we have created a registry for experiences, future plans, and a few meaningful wishes.
7. The greatest gift is sharing our special day with you. Should you wish to contribute, we have a registry to help us create memories and build our future together.
8. Your presence at our wedding is all we ask for. If you would like to give a gift, we have set up a registry with a few special wishes for our next chapter.
9. We are grateful to already have a home full of love and laughter. If you would like to give a gift, we would truly appreciate a contribution towards our future through our registry.
10. Celebrating with the people we love most is the best gift we could ask for. For those who would like to give a little something, we have created a registry for our future plans together.

Sent With Love provides couples with a thoughtful and modern way to manage wedding gifts while keeping the focus on celebrating with family and friends.

Learn more at sentwithlove.com.au